

99th PBESA Annual Meeting
April 12-15, 2015
Coeur d'Alene Resort, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho

Announcing the Opening Plenary Lecture of the 2015 Meeting of the Pacific Branch of the Entomological Society of America.

Please plan to join us on Sunday evening April 12th from 5:00-6:00 pm to hear Dr. Bethany Marshall of Washington State University, School of Biological Sciences, speak on:

“Nature as Teacher, Insect as Muse”

Dr. Marshall is a noted forensic Entomologist in Washington State, and has been involved in several human and wildlife crimes (<http://wsm.wsu.edu/s/index.php?id=348>). In a recent article, she was quoted as saying, “Nature has the answers. We just don't know how to read the book yet.” Join us for what promises to be a riveting story of Entomological curiosity and investigation!